New campaigners

7UP, Pepsi's sparkling lemon brand, has roped in actor Sharman Joshi as its brand ambassador and Rajkumar Hirani, director of blockbuster 3 Idiots to direct the brand's new television commercial. The theme of the new advertising campaign is gussa hatao, chill machao, and will consist of two TVCs and will go on air by the end of March. The on-air campaign will also be supported by an on-ground, outdoor and an online campaign. In the sparkling beverages space in India, 7UP comes in at number seven. Its competitor Sprite from the Coca-Cola camp ranks second in the sparkling beverages market. ♦
